NEW ORLEANS TRACK GOOD ON IN-SIDE, HEAVY ON OUTSIDE.

Elfall Wins the New Year Handicap-Whisk Broom Takes the Baby Race-Garner Is Injured.

New Orleans, La., January 1 .- There was a banner crowd at the Fair Grounds this afternoon, but the racing was probably the most unsatisfactory that the Crescent City Jockey Club has ever made apologies for. The program promised much, but the trouble was with the track. For a space of ten feet from the inner rail it had been rolled and harrowed until it was bordering on fast. Next to the strip of good going the track resembled a plowed field, being heavy and holding. That portion that had been care fully put into good condition would accommodate three horses running abreast, so there was general scampering for the inner rail, causing much crowding. Those having inside positions at the start had a big advantage. Those on the outside may as well have remained in their stalls. Today's form can hardly be worthy of consideration in future

Although the New Year's Handicap was billed as stellar attraction, the baby race which preceded it held more interest to the average racegoer. Six teen two-year-olds were nominated over-night, but the condition of the track and the fact that he drew outside position caused H. McCarren, Jr., to withdraw his colt, No Engine. The McCarren candidate was held in high esteem, it being common report that he had outworked all the youngsters shown

With the McCarren colt out of the way Robert Tucker made it no secret that he considered his filly Whisk Broom, by Cesarion-Elf, and therefore alf sister to Broomstick, a certain winner. He backed his opinion with a liberal commission, not alone here, but away. The filly made good the owner's predictions by running an impressive race and outgaming Gremse, another smart filly, but undersized, which made her debut in Burlew & O'Neill's colors. Hazel M. was a good third and really ran the best race, coming from a long way back in the last furlong to finish going gamely and Because of the track conditions and the big field the race proved nothing in the matter of a true test. The winner was away in a forward posi-Likewise was Gremse. Half of the field acted greenly and scampered all over the track when rounding into the stretch

As in a former case when they t three horses to the post, they were taken into and this time by Elfall. The latter had tile other support than that from his direct conections. He showed a smart performance by dash ing into a long lead at once and while the others expecting him to come back, he increased his advantage with every stride and won cantering. Nicol, on Gild, was busy in the early stages trying to force Western wide, but he woke up to the fac that Elfall was stealing away and set sail after the flying leader, but too late.

Sir Mincemeat, also a starter in the race, ran away three-quarters of a mile the post and this ruined his chances. A. MUSKODAY WINS THE ROSE STAKES. BEST BLOODED ARABIANS ARE SCARCE W. Riley Is of No Help to Cigarlighter When the Pinch Comes.

Los Angeles, Cal., January 1.-A crowd close to the record attendance of Christmas Day was at Ascot Park this afternoon and saw the best racing of the present meeting. The Rose Selling Stakes was the feature and resulted in a big surprise, the winner turning up in A. Muskoday, which ran a sensational race, overcoming much early difficulty working his way up fast when turning for home and coming on with a great burst of speed while occupying the center of the track through the final eighth and winning in the last stride. Cigarlighter was best, but Riley was of no help to him in the closing strides, the horse finishing on his own courage. Von Tromp, backed by a few wise ones ran a disappointing race and was never in the hunt. The winner was well supported with small and was greeted with applause.

MR. CLYDE'S SMART STEEPLECHASER.

The Bryn Mawr, Pa., turfman whose fine sire Atheling has sent many good horses out to win fame over American tracks, has for several years past maintained a small stable of jumpers in England, and it appears that he has recently acquired one that has a good chance to bring his ambition to win the Grand National to fruition. Concerning this letter from "Hegioscope" to the Thorough bred Record says:

"Mr. Clyde, the popular American sportsman who owns, in Dathi and Clonard, two smart steeplechas ers and in Sachem a good hurdle racer, has now got something better than any of the trio named, in Cinders, a five-year-old bay mare by Florizel II., out of Cinder Ellen. She wins her races all the way, squandering the opposition by the terrific pace just in the same way as was done by Deser Chief a year ago. Desert Chief, however, was only a two miler, nearly all his steeplechase victories being at that distance, whereas Cinders beat a good lot this week at Nottingham over three miles in her usual runaway fashion, the judge's verdict being Among those behind her were won by a distance.' such good ones as Aunt Mary, Extravagance and Ravenscliff, and the last named was second, with all the rest a long way behind. At Kempton a fort-night ago Aunt Mary (which was third last March for the Grand National, won by Ascetic's Silver) second to Ross, to which she gave 21 pounds, while to Dathi, which was a bad fourth, she gave 12 pounds. Yet when trying to concede 11 poundto Cinders, Aunt Mary was hopelessly out of it, and if Cinders stays 4 1-2 miles as well as she does 3, Mr. Clyde may not improbably win next year's Grand National with her. Of course the Liverpool fences are much more formidable than those Cinders has negotiated in piling up her sequence of five secutive wins, and she is not quite a faultless jumper, but she made not the slightest mistake at Nottingham and improves every time she runs. Her dam, Cinder Ellen, was a famous arcing ia Australia and India, and had she possessed a triffe more size-she is only a shade under 14.2-would have likely enough beaten Merman 'down under instead of suffering defeat by half a head. two-year-old her daughter, Cinders, showed capital speed when running in the colors of Mr. J. Daly, her breeder, for she ran second to Aspendale in one race and won the Greer Plate at Phoenix Park at her only other appearance. Her dam is by Trenton out of Cinderella, by Javelin (son of Yattendon), and in Cinders, therefore, we have one more example of the worth of the St. Simon on Musket cross.'

ADAM ARRIVES AT LEXINGTON.

Lexington, Ky., January 1.-Adam arrived here today safe and sound and has been taken to La Belle farm, where the other thoroughbreds of Miller, Bishop & Paynter are located. Along with this good horse came Martha Gorman and she is now in the breeding stud of Lewis & Widener at Thomas R. Gardner's farm in this county.

Constant Call on the Country for Stock Horses Has Depleting Effect.

"Robert Sewell, a well-known artist and horse fancier who has made a study of the subject, says that the ancient breed of so-called Arabians to which most of the improved modern racers owe many of their best qualities, is in imminent danger of becoming extinct," says Gurney C. Gue. "For hundreds of years the horse breeders of all nations have been drawing on Arabia for stallions and mares to improve the common stock and this constant a country having comparatively few horses in proportion to its population has, it is said, lowered the standard besides depleting the numbers. Almost without exception the fine animals taken from the east to other parts of the world were used solely for the purpose of engrafting their superior qualities on the native breeds, and nowhere, it is believed, outside of the land of its nativity, has the Arab type been perpetuated to any extent worth considering,

"In England the influence of the Arab has resulted in the modern British thoroughbred, whose throughout the world. Although recent researches have exploded the famous dictum of Admiral Rous that 'the British racehorse is a pure eastern exotic, whose pedigree can be traced 2,000 years, the true son of Arabia Deserta, without a drop of English blood in his veins,' it cannot be denied that the Oriental horses imported into England for racing at least as early as the time of Henry VIII. (1509), and probably during the crusades were the dominating element in the formation of the thoroughbred type, which, in turn, has been an important factor in building up the breed of Amer ican trotting horses

"In Russia Arab blood was introduced in the imperial stud as early as the time of Peter the Great (1682), and from its use have come the present day breed of Orloff trotters, which excel the Americans in purity of action and in uniformity of type, if not in speed, and the Russian breed of carriage horses.

"In France, Germany and other countries of continental Europe eastern blood has been engrafted on the horse stock to an extent as great as in Eng land and Russia, while Spain, Hungary and Austria, which were overrun in the middle ages by the followers of Mohammed, acquired thousands of horses of Oriental ancestry by these invasions. The gray Arabs have left their mark on the horses of France, where the trappy, active, rapid walking Percheron daughters inherit the colors as well as other characteristics of their remote Arabian ancestors. It is a common occurrence to see Percheron horses in New York that weigh upward of 1,500 pounds, with the clean cut heads, wide throttles, sharp pointed ears and beautiful, mild eyes characteristic of the true Arab.

"The type of horse that is commonly called Arabian has been found in different ages in various countries bordering on the Mediterranean Sea, notably in Turkey, Asia Minor, Arabia, Egypt, the Barbary states and Spain. From time immemorial until a very recent period horse historians were agreed that Arabia was the original habitat of this superior breed which has refined the horse stock

"The long accented belief was based chiefly if wholly upon the traditions and legends of the Arabs themselves, who assumed to trace the pedigrees of their fine horses straight back without taint of foreign blood to five famous mares owned by Sheik Salaman, who was fourth in descent from Ishmael, son of Abraham, and who lived about

These five famous mares were believed to have to Mohammed until a few years ago, when Major Roger D. Upton, an English traveler in Aarbia, taught the world their true history. It is an old story that in order to select mare of becoming the dams of the best horses the prophet shut up a herd in plain sight of water and kept them there until almost famished with thirst. Then they were all released at once, and when rushing headlong to the water the war trumpet was sounded as a test of obedience and discipline. Only five out of the herd obeyed the signal and turned, in spite of their suffering, line up in battle array. These alone were chosen to perpetuate the breed, and they became known the prophet's mares.'

"Another characteristic example of 'authentic' Arabian horse history is the story told by Spencer Borden in a recently published book entitled 'The It is related that a certain sheik mounted on his favorite mare, was flying from the enemy, when, on stopping for rest at noonday, she gave birth to a filly. Being hard pressed the sheik was compelled to mount his mare again and seek safety in flight, abandoning the new born to her fate. Finally reaching his own people great was the surprise of all when, shortly after his arrival on his favorite mare, the little filly came into camp also, having followed her mother, without sustenance, across miles of desert when only a few hours old. It is superfluous to add that she grew to be the most famous of all the animals in the history of the breed.

'On such stories rest all that can be learned from the Bedouins themselves concerning the origin and history of the Arab horses. Scientists and scholars who have written about the horse antiquity reject all these legends without according to them the dignity of mention.

"That Arabia is the original habitat of the so called Arabian horse has been shown to be wholly improbable. That Arabia had no horses at all until the beginning of the Christian era is now maintained by the weight of authority, ancient and modern. "Herodotus, 'the father of history,' who visited

Another Durnell Coup-Firestone a Good Youngster-Sandy Is Injured-Big Crowd Sees the Sport

Oakland, Cal., January 1 .- Jockey Sandy sustained serious injuries through being thrown to the ground and stepped upon by the horse Plausible, which stumbled on the first turn just after the finish of the fifth race at Oakland today. Sandy, is under contract to H. E. Rowell and is the most promising lightweight rider developed during the local season He was unable to ride Governor Davis in the closing race and Miller was substituted. weather was a material factor in attracting an enormous throng to the track. Thirty-six bookmakers were in line. The running of the New Year Handicap developed into a farce. Proper, the odds-on favorite, beat the barrier and won all the way under a pull. Nothing ever got near enough to menace the Jennings horse's commanding lead. Logistilla, the second choice, ridden by Walter Miller, was virtu-

Chief interest really centered in the juvenile race at three furlongs. Twelve grand looking "baby" racers started. They were a well behaved lot and the start was both prompt and good. Firestone, owned by S. C. Hildreth, won in such commanding fashion that he was at once acclaimed a youngster with a future.

The Durnell clique pulled off a big coup with the atrociously ridden Neptunus in the last. The aged Top Gallant gelding, despite meeting all the interference coming to him, won out at the end in bewildering style. Four favorites were successful. Dorado should have won. Walter Miller took chances with this one and rode him to an unlucky delta

YESTERDAY'S YOUNG WINNERS.

On the first day of January last year five races for two-year-olds were decided; two at the New Orleans Fair Grounds track and one each at City Park, Ascot and Oakland. The winners were Glen Boy, by Glenheim-Kruda; De Oro, by Don de Oro-E. S. J.; Baleshed, by Dr. Hasbrouck—Cremorne; Mabel Hollander, by Maxio—Circlet, and Humada, by Colonel Wheeler-Humidity.

Yesterday there were three races for two-year-olds. At New Orleans the winner was Whisk the half sister to Broomstick. This filly was bred by the late Captain S. S. Brown and was purchased by Robert Tucker at the sale of the Senorita yearlings last summer for $800. Mr. Tucker turned her over with others of his purchases to Mickey Shannon, which were taken to Lexington and broken at the old Kentucky Association course. Before leaving Lexington she showed Shannon a quarter in 22 1-2 seconds and after she was shipped to New Orleans she worked three-eighths of a mile for Mr. Tucker in :343. Mickey Shannon is at Memphis now in charge of several of the Tucker youngsters that are being reserved for racing in east. A dispatch from there last night says that Shannon won a handsome wager over the victory of the filly and that the poolroom across the river was hard hit as the result of his free distribution of his belief in the daughter of Elf.

The winner at Oakland was S. C. Hildreth's Fire-This youngster was bred at Rancho del Paso stud in California, which J. B. Haggin has dispersed. He was one of the lot of youngsters, the last from the noted establishment, sold at Sheephead Bay in June. He was knocked down to Mr. Hildreth for His dam is a sister in blood to Lizetta, the dam of Gay Lizzette. This youngster comes from the family of Reliable, Edna Jackson and Water-He is engaged in the National Stallion

At Los Angeles the winner was Barney Schreibe Katic Rains, a chestnut filly by Balgowan—Mauch, She was bred by Mr. Schreiber at his Woodlands farm, near Bridgeton, Missouri. Mauch is the dam of Tim Hurst. It is not known whether Balgowan or Foul Shot is the sire of Tim Hurst Mauch was bred to both horses in the spring of 1900. Hurst has won thirteen races out of seventy-two starts in his three years on the turf.

THE ARROWED TO STAND AT MIDWAY.

The Arrowed, the six-year-old black horse by Gallinule-Little May, is on his way from Brunswick to stand at the farm of J. V. Shipp, start as a two-year-old at the Haydock Park July meeting in 1903, with Lucien Lyne as his pilot, and won the July Plate. He won one other race as a three-year-old. He was several times second in fair company. He was sent over the hurdles and won and likewise won a steeplechase. raced as the property of Mr. S. M. Nolan, his breeder, who on December 5 last at Newmarket, sent him into the sale ring. The only bid made was $500 by a Mr. Dale and he was knocked down for that. Mr. Dale, it is presumed, lives at St. John's, New Brunswick, for that is where Mr. Shipp has gone to get the horse. Dispatches from Lexington do not say whether Mr. Shipp bought The Arrowed from Mr. Dale or whether he is to stand in Kentucky under some arrangement with that gentleman. The Arrowed is bred well enough, but for reason he was not fancied at the Newmarket sales. His sire, Gallinule, is the sire of Cicero, the winner, and his dam, Little May, is by Zenophone,

BEST BLOODED ARABIANS ARE SCARCE

northern Arabia about 450 B. C., said significantly, in ennmerating the nations which supplied horse men and chariots of the hosts of Xerxes, that the Arabians contributed no horses, but only a camel corps. Strabo, a famous Greek geographer who traveled in Arabia at the very beginning of the Christian era, gave positive testimony that then there were no horses there; and Ritter, a famous modern geographer, as well as Michaelis, an equally noted archaeologist, confirms this view. William Ridgeway, professor of archaeology in Cambridge University and author of the most exhaustive work yet written in the English language on the history of the horse, says that 'beyond all doubt the Arabs did not possess horses until after the Christian era.' This is the conclusion, also, of John H. American authority, whose collection of classic and other ancient texts is almost com-

"Whatever may be the truth about Arabia itself, there can be no doubt that the countries surrounding it all had horses in large numbers long before the Christian era. They were domesticated and in use in Babylonia and the valley of the Euphrates 1,000 B. C., according to W. H. Ward, an American archaeologist. They were known in Egypt at least 1,600 B. C., and in Cappadocia and Armenia more than a thousand years earlier.

Arabia possessed any horses prior to the Christian era it seems probable they were not of the superior breed since known as Arabians, for no record has been found in ancient history of any ruler or merchant of another country having sent there for horses. Cappadocia, Armenia, Media, Parthia and Scythia were renowned throughout the world for fine horses from the time of the Medes and the Persians, but historic proof is all against the antiquity of the Arabs as breeders of the famous horses which now bear their name.

"Where, then, did these fine horses come from and when were they introduced into Arabia? These interesting questions are now engaging the atten-tion of scientists and antiquarians in two hemispheres and will, no doubt, be satisfactorily answered sooner or later, although the origin of the breed may be lost in the mists of prehistoric times.

Professor Ridgeway in his recent work on the 'Origin and Influence of the Thoroughbred Horse' has advanced the original opinion that the ancestors of the Arab horse had their home in Africa, in the ancient country of Lybia, lying west of Egypt, where they ran wild. He has collected a mass of evidence in support of his theory, which, however, is not very convincing and which is directly at with the more tangible proof cited by John H. Wallace in his 'Horse of America.' authors are agreed that in the centuries before the birth of Jesus and the rise of Mohammed the Arabs, or at least some of the great men among tribes of South Arabia, had become posessed of fine horses. But, while Ridgeway derives the from the wild horses of the Nile valley in Africa, Wallace traces its introduction among sheiks of the desert to a gift of 'two hundred well bred horses from Cappadocia' sent by the Roman emperor, Constantine, in the year 356 A. D., to the Homeritae, a tribe in Arabia Felix, now called Yemen.

"Mr. Walace discovered this important fragment horse history, which no other writer seems to have found, among the partly preserved writings of Philistorgius, a Greek theologian, who was born in 425 A. D. Philistorgius says Constantius sent ambassadors to the Arabians to induce them to embrace the Christian religion, and, wishing to array the embassy with peculiar splendor, put on board their ships the Cappadocian horses and sent them with many other gifts to the sheiks.

"This is believed to be the first definite allusion in all history to fine horses in Arabia, and many circumstances seem to indicate that from these 200 well bred Cappadocians are descended the present day race of Arabians.

'These white or gray horses of Cappadocia have been mentioned by nearly every historian since the time of Herodotus, who tells us that in the races and games established by Xerxes they took all the The Persians carried on horse breeding in their captured provinces with great care. They were very particular about keeping the pedigrees of their horses and when they ruled Cappadocia they improved the native breed.

'After the Romans took the province from the Persians all the fine Cappadocian horses were appropriated for the emperor's stud. Gibbons, either Constantine or one of his successors suppressed the rich temple of Comana (in Cappadocia), where the high priest of the goddess of supported the dignity of a sovereign prince. and then applied to their private use the consecrated lands, which were inhabited by 6,000 subjects, or slaves of the deity, and her ministers But these were not the valuable inhabitants; the plains that stretched from the foot of Mount Argaeus to the banks of the Carus held a generous race of horses, renowned above all others in the ancient world for their majestic shape and in-comparable swiftness. These sacred animals, des-tined for the service of the palace and the imperial games, were protected by the law from the profana-tion of a vulgar master.'

"In his commentaries on the laws of the Theodocian code relating to them Jacob Godefroy has collected every circumstance of antiquity concerning the Cappadocian horses. He says one of the finest the Palmatian, was the forfeiture of a rebel, whose estate lay about sixteen miles from Tyana, near the great road between Antioch and Constantinople.

"According to the poet Nemesian, these Palmatian horses took their name from the fact that all of the breed had been branded with a plam leaf as a sign of victory in commemoration of the many races they had won. In the time of Constantine and his successors they became so popular that the emperors established a monopoly and put a prohibitive tax on their private ownership. Philistorgius Europitous, manager of the royal stud, enriched himself by selling them, for which he was

"From the earliest dawning of history until the middle ages the horses most renowned for purposes of war, religion and display seems to have been white or gray. Of this color were all those chosen for dedication to the gods of Persia, Scythia, Rome and Greece. White horses were always demanded as tribute, and white horses always drew the chariots of the kings. They figured prominently in triumphal marches as a sign of pomp, luxury and pride.

"Perhaps the first breed of gray horses of which there is any record in ancient history is that of the Nisaean plains of Parthia, near the present Nishapoor, in northeastern Persia. If the Parthians were an offshoot of the Scythians, as many now believe, their famous Nisaean horses may perhaps be traced one step further toward the country of their origin, for Herodotus has observed that great numbers of fine wild horses of a white color grazed about the borders of a lake from which the Hypanais flows to join the Borysthenes (Dnieper) before entering the Euxine (Black) Sea. This was the country of the Scythians."

Winner—Ch. f, by Balgowan—Mauch (trained by F. Whitlock).

Went to nost at 2:15. At post 7 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second driving; third the same. Katie Rains is a fast one, got off flying, showed much the most speed and won in a canter. Kismet Jr. ran well and stood the last sixtsenth drive gamely. Magazine was always forward in the running and clung on tenaciously under the whip. Velma C. finished fast under punishment. The others were far away at the finish.

Went to post at 4:33. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won hand ridden; second and third driving.

Confessor forced a sharp pace all the way and, finishing fast, held lla safe at the finish under a hand ride. Its showed the most early speed and chung on gamely through the final sixteenth, but was not quite good enough. Susannah ran well, but tired in the final eighth. Redan showed speed. Revolt finished fast ander a hand ride.

Winner—Ch. f, by Cesarion—Elf (trained by H. C. Riddle).

Went to post at 3:97. At post 3 minutes. Start fair. Wen driving; second and third the same. Whisk Broom was favored at the start and well handled, forced a fast pace from the start, were down Gremse in the final furlong and, standing a hard drive well, won a good race. Gremse showed a good burst of speed for a quarter, but tired in the stretch drive and will improve. Hazel M. stood a hard drive gamely through the last furiong and, running straight, closed a big gap. Dick Rose broke well in motion and was a forward contender for a quarter. Those in back of the first five at the start had scant true merits.

Scratched—No Engine, 115.

Winner—Ch. c, by Royal Flush III.—Modreda (trained by S. C. Hildreth).

Went to post at 2:42. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won in a canter; second driving; third the same. Firestone is a grand looker and raced impressively, broke fast, took the lead in a jiffy and won alk the way running straight and true. Raconteur ran close to the winner to the stretch, where he dropped back, but easily held the others safe. Bunker Hill broke well, but swerved to the deep going and was there anchored, ran a good race, but looks big. Thomas Calhoun got away slowly and was never able to get to the forward contention. Parasol was an easing up fifth and is promising. Husky and the other rear ones had no chance at the start.
